

THANK YOU TO MARGARET WALSH AND CHANGING PLACES

I compliment and thank Margaret Walsh and her staff at Changing Places for coordinating and implementing a brilliantly smooth and efficient move into our new house. This was no ordinary move: household objects came from no less than three different storage locations, our house was not quite completed, and I was out of town for the year prior to the move in. Well before our move in date, Margaret had been in touch with and coordinated the three different moving companies so that never was any group stepping on the toes of the others.

Because I was out of the area, I asked Margaret to recruit household staff for me. Margaret and a member of her staff searched for, interviewed and identified probably the best housekeeper I have ever had. I trusted their judgement implicitly and they followed through with flying colors.

Margaret thought of everything including folding tables on which to unpack household items, drawer and shelf liners, specially trained closet organizers specialists, locating and carrying out the disposal of unwanted materials, to providing the most delicious fruit to me and her staff when our energy was flagging. Members of her staff also acquired necessary household supplies from local hardware and supply shops as the need for them arose. Her staff even itemized, packed and listed each and every piece of clothing and household item that were donated to local charities. She and her team made what could have been a very stressful move into a lot of fun.

Over the years, Changing Places has moved my family in and out of several residences, and every single one of these moves could not have been run more smoothly. When our current move in date approached, Changing Places was always my only choice for relocation help. I wholeheartedly and without reservation recommend Margaret Walsh and Changing Places.
